

Anya Vero Jewellery is looking for a Creative Sales Person & Social Media Enthusiast.

Freelance & Part time

Overview

This is a unique commission-based opportunity where you can apply your creativity, get hands on practical business and communications experience and contribute to the growth of an emerging fashion brand. You will be working directly with Anya Vero, who started the brand whilst working on her PhD as a creative outlet for her designs. Now the time has come to take it further and carve a niche out for these unique pieces - each one as a little work of art, one of a kind, made with high quality materials and lots of love.

If you are creative and enthusiastic, if you enjoy social media and visual branding, are passionate about jewellery and crafts, and want to be paid based on your work, not just the hours you spend, this is the job for you.

You will be paid a generous 20% commission on all your sales and will have creative control over your approach and workflow. But the role is not just an opportunity to earn money on a flexible basis - you will also gain invaluable business experience with the Anya Vero World team, whilst forming part of something as it grows with you!

What will it offer you?

You will be paid a generous 20% commission on all your sales and will have a lot of creative control over your approach and workflow. But the role is not just an opportunity to earn money on a flexible basis - you will also gain invaluable business experience with the Anya Vero World team, whilst forming part of something as it grows with you!

What do you bring with you?

- Great at social media and enjoy sharing with the world
 - Experience selling online (or a strong desire to learn)
 - Entrepreneurial spirit coupled with a “hands-on mentality”
 - Ambitious, driven and enthusiastic
 - Great at communication
 - A degree in economics is not required but common sense is appreciated :)
-

Apply:

- CV
- Simple cover letter stating why you are interested, your relevant experience and what you would like to get out of this
- Please send your application to anyaveroworld@gmail.com
- Apply by 12th September
- If you have any questions, get in touch

